

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates, in general, to adrenergic receptors and, in particular, to α_{1a} -adrenergic receptors and variants thereof. The invention further relates to methods of using such variants in disease diagnosis and drug 5 development.